CASE STUDY - A DRUG PATIENT AT MATRC (KCI)

SELF ESTEEM COMES OVER ADDICTION HABIT

Owais Haider, 18 year old boy is under treatment at MATRC Karachi for last couple of weeks. He is a student of matric and belongs to Chancer Goth, Sindh. Owais is residing at the house of parents along with his three sibling sisters. Father of the patient is driver by profession and has very high hopes for the bright future of Owais.

A year and a half back, Owais got promoted to matric (SSC) grade and started developing new relations & acquaintances with school mates since he moved to a new locality at F.C Area Liaqatabad No. 4. Owais being the only son has spoiled himself, he got into bad company. It was a fine sunny day, when out of curiosity and peer pressure Owais, consumed Heroine for the first time. He was 17 at that time, and unnoticed by his family he got indulged into addiction habit.

Initially he was consuming limited quantity and was able to conceal his addiction from the family members, yet his father got alert by the sharply declining health condition. He does some investigation from peer group of Owais and came to know about the Heroin addiction. Father was devastated, knowing that his only son has fallen prey to narcotics addiction. He took desperate measures to control his bad habit by making him stay at home and depriving him from his pocket money so he may refrain from drug use.

Apparently, Owais was able to acquire drugs through his friends and more shockingly he was being supported financially by his siblings too. His addiction got serious and he started taking drugs three times a day. Patient informed that he used to pay two thousand rupees every time he would procure Heroine from same vendor, which lasts for a week. Patients belong to lower middle class and his father has an average income of Rs. 15000/ and spending thousands on narcotics addiction made the life of family members very miserable.

After a year long addiction, patient Owais realized that his studies are suffering badly and that he is losing his family too. Owasi got motivated to get treated for his addiction behavior after extensive counseling by his father, and support of his sisters. His father was aware of the MATRC facility at Karachi, so he acquired more information about treatment at MATRC. Exploring that treatment at MATRC was provided free of cost and that patients were being treated with acute care encouraged him to admit his son in MATRC Karachi.

Today Owais has completed his detoxification period and is undergoing psychological treatment under the supervision of trained professionals. A very positive sign in this case is that not only the patient himself is determined to get treated but also his family is taking keen interest in the ongoing treatment.

Next is a big challenge i.e. reintegration of patient Owais into society. Though, there is sufficient rational to believe that in presence of family support patient will recover fully and become a productive member of the society.

Note: Photo of the patient is intentionally not being published due to social implication.
